Re memo to SAC from SAs J. HERBERT FOLLY and ALFRED B. EDDY, dated 9/9/46, re CAPGA.

WILLIAM FRANCIS BENNETT

A review of the files of the Chicago Crime Commission regarding the Dome, a gambling establishment at 7446 W. Irving Park Road, reveals that WILLIAM FRANCIS BENNETT was an employee of EDDIE VOGEL, acting in the capacity of manager of the aforementioned gambling establishment.

On 8/23/46 an effort was made to contact WILLIAM FRANCIS BENNETT at his residence, 5206 Oakton, Skokie, Ill., in order that he might be interviewed on the pretext of securing information regarding the hijacking of 11 Seeburg juke boxes, which theft from interstate shipment case is presently pending in the Chicago Office. BENNETT was not at home, but he subsequently contacted Agents at the Chicago Office.

BENNETT was told that the reason he was contacted by Agents was for the purpose of securing information regarding the hijacking of the Seeburg juke boxes. BENNETT stated that hijacking was not his business, inasmuch as there are easier ways to make money. He admitted during the course of the interview that he had formerly worked for EDDY VOGEL as a slot machine mechanic. He stated that approximately 7 years ago he observed an ad in one of the Chicago papers regarding the possibility of employment with VOGEL as a slot machine mechanic. BENNETT stated that he answered the ad and became employed by VOGEL.

BENNETT went on to state that he has a back injury which does not permit him to engage in any heavy or active employment. Because of this injury, he said, he left the employ of VOGEL and is presently employed as a box man at the Vernon Country Club. His duties consist of seeing that the bets are placed at the crap table.

It was not indicated to BENNETT that the Bureau is interested in VOGEL or the Vernon Country Club.

Re report of SA ALAN H. BELMONT, at Chicago, dated 12/3/42, re ROGER TOUHY, was.; ET AL.

SA J. F. CARROLL interviewed EDWARD J. MEANEY, 5311 W. Washington Blvd., relative to ROGER TOUHY's background and possible contacts. The following information was secured:

Until about 1927 MEANY's associations with TOUHY were confined to business relations; however, in connection therewith, MEANY was frequently accompanied by his wife on his business calls to the TOUHY residence, and as a result thereof a strong family friendship sprung up between them. He himself began to see TOUHY socially about once a month.

MEANEY visited the TOUHY home very frequently during the next several years but during this time he met no one else there on these occasions except TOUHY's sister and TOUHY's uncle. While TOUHY permitted none of his hoodlum associates to visit in his residence proper, he did, however, entertain them almost nightly in the basement of his home. The one person of this group who MEANY could recall as having definitely seen there, was one RUSSELL MC GILL, alias Russell Kennedy. KENNEDY was an employee of TOUHY and was present in the vicinity of the TOUHY house at all times even after prohibition was abolished.

RUSSELL MC GILL is still living, although MEANEY has not seen him in eight or nine years. When last heard of, MC GILL was working for VOGEL who controls the slot machine racket in the northwest suburbs. During TOUHY's regime in that area VOGEL operated his racket under TOUHY's protection.

"The Chicago American", issue of 1/26/47, contained an article entitled "Czar's Crime Ring Lives On".

The article reflected that the death "last night" of a former head of the family found Syndicated Crime healthier than ever.

The organization he built had long since ceased taking orders from AL CAPONE. A couple of convicted extortionists, LOUIS (LITTLE NEW YORK) CAMPAGNA and PAUL DE LUCIA, alias Paul Ricca, took over as soon as the Master Monster got into trouble over his taxes.

They still give the orders, it is said, though they have been in a federal penitentiary since 1943 for helping to extort $3,000,000 from movie makers.

Operational control of the tightly-ruled Syndicate passed to JACK (GREASY THUMB) GUZIK, MURRAY (THE CAMEL) HUMPHREIS and EDDIE VOGEL when CAMPAGNA and RICCA were jailed.

"Chicago Sun", issue of 4/27/44, contained an article entitled "41 Gangsters Called Before Grand Jury", "Fight on Syndicate Will Go To Source, Courtney Asserts".

The article reflected that virtually every hoodlum and underworld figure of consequence in the Chicago area was included among 41 men subpoenaed by the April grand jury "yesterday" as the starting point of what the State's Attorney's Office described as an investigation into who's who in gangland strife.

The jury authorized the issuance of forthwith subpoenas for the 41 persons in a surprise move in connection with its investigation into the recent "kidnapping" of JACK GUZIK, Chicago's gambling overlord, and the slaying April 17 of JAMES D. LARKIN, a syndicate gambler.

State's Attorney THOMAS J. COURTNEY stated that the jury desired to question those subpoenaed in connection with both the GUZIK and LARKIN cases as well as the ramifications of the underworld.

Among those subpoenaed by the April grand jury "yesterday" was:

Re letter to Director from Miami, dated 10/1/46, re CAPGA.

The following is submitted in connection with recent developments in this case in Miami, Fla.:

Re: Capone Gang (1945)

When discussing the general situation in Miami Beach with Sergeant J.E. HUCKLE of the Identification Division, Miami Beach PD on 9/24/46, he advised SA NOONAN that he had received information from one of his informants early in the year 1945 as to the set up at that time of the Capone gang. He stated he had written a letter to the Chicago Field Division in May, 1945, requesting information on certain persons alleged to be associated with the Capone mob, but had not received a reply. He wrote to the Chicago PD who replied, giving him some information. He also secured the criminal records of the persons mentioned from the Bureau.

These persons, with what information HUCKLE had available, include:

EDWARD VOGEL, FBI #4329702. No information is available concerning him but the Chicago Office has had his activities under investigation recently.

Sgt. HUCKLE stated that VOGEL and one JOHN FLINK, who in the past has been involved in white slave activities in Miami, Fla., have associated together in Miami Beach. He also stated that MAX CALDWELL who operates the Terrace Club, 2364 Collins Ave., is well acquainted with VOGEL and that CALDWELL and FLINK operate the Terrace Club and that CALDWELL also now operates the Shanghai Restaurant which was formerly Fan and Bills across the street from the Vanderbilt Hotel.

EDWARD VOGEL is the reputed head of the juke box racket for the so-called Capone Syndicate at Chicago and vicinity under the possible domination of JACK GUZIK and latter's son-in-law FRANK GARNETT.

Suitable inquiry should be made about the persons identified with University 3776 to determine whether they are connected with any racketeers or hoodlums.

FRANK GARNETT is supposed to hold in his name, possibly for interest of JACK GUZIK outstanding Capone Hoodlum, considerable stock in the Wurlitzer Co., manufacturers of juke or music boxes.

Re letter to Assistant Director E. J. CONNELLEY, at Chicago, from Cincinnati, dated 7/12/46, re Reactivation of the Capone Gang, Miscellaneous Information, Crime Survey.

Reference is made to Chicago Office memo dated 6/29/46 and 7/9/46 advising that a telephone call was made from BUCkingham 8888 in Chicago to University 3776 in Cincinnati on 3/21/46 and requesting that inquiry be made to determine the identity of the persons identified with UNiversity 3776, and to determine if they are connected with racketeers or hoodlums.

University 3776 is listed to one PAUL COHEN, 237 Wedgewood. The 1945 Cincinnati City Directory reflects that PAUL COHEN is manager of the Decca Distributing Corporation in Cincinnati. The 1945 City Directory also reflects that one LOUIS D. COHEN resided at 237 Wedgewood in 1945, and he is possibly a relative of PAUL COHEN. At the Cincinnati Credit Bureau it was determined that PAUL COHEN came to Cincinnati from Indianapolis, Ind., about 1936 and that he has been manager of the Decca Distributing Co., who distribute the Decca phonograph records, for about

2 years, having held other positions in Cincinnati. There was no indication that he had ever been connected with an organization having to do with rackets in any way.

The records of the Cincinnati PD, and inquiry through certain of the personnel of the Cincinnati PD, failed to reveal any information indicating that PAUL COHEN is connected with a criminal element.

Leading Hoodlums Today

The following individual gangster is one of those whose name has been most frequently brought to the attention of the Chicago Field Division during the past year:

EDDIE VOGEL
(Chicago file 62-3322)

EDDIE VOGEL resides at 4300 Marine Drive and is still reported to be the Slot Machine King of the Chicago area. He has been questioned several times during the past year with regard to slot machine operations principally in Skokie, Ill., and has been questioned in regard to the murder of JOHN GOLDING, a slot machine operator who was killed in broad daylight at the corner of Madison and Halsted Sts., in March, 1947. VOGEL was picked up by Detective TIM O'CONNELL of the Special Assignment Squad, Detective Bureau, and brought into Detective Headquarters for questioning. A writ of habeas corpus was issued very shortly thereafter and VOGEL was released. He had refused to furnish any information or to take a lie detector test. Lt. WILLIAM DHURY, who has furnished considerable information to the Chicago Field Office, advised that this pickup of VOGEL with regard to the GOLDING killing was a phony arrest and that someone called Detective O'CONNELL and stated that if he would be in the lobby of the Maryland Hotel at a certain time he would be able to pick up VOGEL. Lt. DRURY states that this type of operation is followed generally where a Syndicate gangster is wanted for questioning by the Detective Bureau. After the gangster is arrested the writ is usually already prepared and ready to be put through the Criminal Courts Bldg. at 26th and California. In this manner the Police get credit for having arrested a Syndicate member for questioning and the gangster is released because of the writ being issued and the only people who are fooled are the newspaper public.

Numerous contacts had been made from the barber shop by the above-mentioned men to their attorneys, FIEFER and BRODKIN. The following news item appeared in the Chicago Tribune of 12/30/46:

"Sheriff Walsh Tells How He Wrecks Gang" by JAMES DOHERTY.

Sheriff ELMER WALSH received reports yesterday from his highway police force that the Capone-Guzik gambling syndicate's $18,000,000 a year Cook county business has been paralyzed in the 4 weeks WALSH has been in office.

Chief LE ROY STEFFENS of the county highway police reported that he has 50 gambling arrest cases pending in justice of the peace courts as a result of raids made in the four weeks. Several thousand dollars in fines have been collected. WALSH's men have confiscated 24 slot machines. Capone-Guzik joints have been hit repeatedly in all parts of the county.

Chief STEFFENS reported that the slot machine gang, headed in Cook County by EDDIE VOGEL as an agent of JACK GUZIK and the old Capone gang had 900 machines in operation in the county prior to Sept. 1, 1946 - about the time tavern keepers of Skokie have siad they were told of "an O.K. from downtown" on slot machines.

"Reports 1,875 in Operation"

"After that date the mob put out more machines", said Chief STEFFENS. "I've learned that up to a week before Sheriff WALSH took office 1,875 machines were in operation in the county. The gang's take from the slots averaged $100 a machine".

STEFFENS said his four weeks in charge of the sheriff's police convinced him the syndicate took more than $1,500,000 a month out of the pockets of county citizens. He said the syndicate had race track betting establishments scattered all over the county, and the "take" from them must have been not less than $500,000.

Punch boards, crap games, roulette and poker games brought the mob another $300,000 or $400,000 a month, STEFFENS estimated, which, on top of operation of slot machines, made syndicated gambling in Cook County big business.

"Felt All Over State"

The effect of raids in Cook County by Sheriff WALSH has been felt all over the state, he and his staff were advised. Slot machine scandals here tend to frighten officials in other counties who, for one reason or another, winked at the slot machines, they were told.

So the activities of WALSH and STEFFENS here have cost the racketeers more than $1,500,000 this month, the officials believe.

Sheriff WALSH admitted yesterday that his drive on the syndicate slot machine racket hasn't yet convinced the Guzik gang that their business in the county is out. The sheriff said he has been approached by syndicate emissaries asking who his "contact man" is. The sheriff said he replied, "I've no contact man and never will have. Tell that to the Guzik gang".

"Set at $5,000 Monthly"

How much a sheriff could collect if he dealt with a "contact man" was problematical, but the figure set for Chief STEFFENS' office was reported as $5,000 a month, with payment of from $2,500 to $3,000 a month for each of the three county highway police lieutenants still to be named.

WALSH is the first Republican sheriff in the past 18 years and he selected STEFFENS, a lieutenant of city police, as his aid and gave him orders to "tear the Guzik gang to pieces".

"Syndicate Fights G.O.P."

WALSH said he and Gov. GREEN tried in vain to prevent the Guzik organization from operating against the Republican county and state slate in the Nov. election. Numerous precinct and ward leaders told WALSH and the governor that "the syndicate", in return for permission to operate slot machines, ordered precinct captains to limit Republican candidates to a small quota of votes in syndicate dominated wards. Republican workers have told of being threatened with death if they disobeyed the syndicate's orders.

Chief STEFFENS said that when he took charge of the county highway police force on Dec. 2 he found that a number of the county highway police holdover members were untrustworthy. It was obvious that the sheriff's police had done nothing about the slot machines admittedly permitted to operate in Cicero.

This district covers the area known as the Gold Coast which is made up of many night clubs and cocktail lounges which cater to a more or less wealthy clientele and it is known by the police that members of the Chicago Syndicate, as well as lesser hoodlums, frequent the area to obtain their meals and spend a few hours drinking in the various bars. However, it is known that they do not make their presence known and at the least provocation that he might be picked up the hoodlum leaves the location he is in at that time.

The article reflected that JAMES M. RAGEN, Sr., 10756 S. Seeley Ave., appearing as a witness in Judge JOHN J. LUPE's Superior Court "yesterday" in the suit of SYLVESTER FARRELL against JACK GUZIK and HYMIE "LOUD MOUTH" LEVIN, gamblers, caused a lot of excitement among attorneys.

He insisted on telling about meetings he had with GUZIK and in naming others present at such meetings. The attorneys didn't mind his testimony about the meetings. They objected strenuously to his naming such names as MURRAY HUMPHREYS, ED "DUTCH" VOGEL, JIMMY FRESTEL, and others.

RAGEN, seemingly forgetful, blurted out these names continually.

Chicago is conducting an investigation of EDWARD D. VOGEL, juke box and slot machine king in Chicago. On 5/15/46, a telephone call was made from telephone Buckingham 8873 at Chicago, to Seattle, Wash., telephone Alder 0811, where apparently a Mrs. GALINO was contacted.

On May 26, a telephone call was made from the same Chicago number to Kenosha, Wis., telephone 23863, and on June 5, another call was made to the same number in Kenosha, were apparently one "TONY" was contacted.

It is requested that the listed subscriber of Kenosha, Wis., telephone 23863 be determined, as well as the identity of "TONY" who may have received this call. Any connection of "TONY" or the listed subscriber with underworld activities should be determined.

Similar information should be secured re Seattle number Alder 0811 and Mrs. GALINO.

On 7/23/46, SA JOHN P. BRAUN determined that Kenosha, Wis., telephone number 23863 was listed to the Wisconsin Novelty Co., 5033 - 7th Ave., Kenosha. This company operates a number of juke boxes in Kenosha. The "TONY" referred to in referenced letter is probably ANTHONY BIERNAT, a mechanic employed by the above-mentioned company. BIERNAT's home address is 2312 - 63d St., Kenosha. He does not have any criminal record in Kenosha but is known to have Chicago connections with the juke box industry. He has been connected with the industry for a number of years. The Wisconsin Novelty Co. is operated by STANLEY MILLER who is BIERNAT's boss. The specific character of BIERNAT's connection with underworld activities appears to be only that of a juke box mechanic.

"Waukegan News-Sun", issue of 7/13/46, contained an article entitled "Slot Machines Spirited Away", "Gambling Devices Highjacked From 2 Taverns at Wedges Corners".

The article reflected that armed hijackers cleaned the slot machines out of two taverns at Wedges corners "Wednesday night", it was learned here "today" from unofficial sources.

Sheriff WALTER L. ATKINSON said no report of any such hijacking has been made to his office.

Technique in hijacking of slot machines from Lake county taverns and clubs has developed into a routine - while one gangster holds a gun on the bartender and patrons, other hoodlums carry the machines out to a waiting auto.

As no official action is ever taken to trace the bandits or recover the gambling devices, the syndicate that owns the machines apparently absorbs the loss out of profits and forgets the matter.

Re letter to Director from Chicago, dated 7/22/46, re Capga (from Assistant Director E. J. CONNELLEY).

In carrying out the investigation requested of the various offices as to the criminal syndicate operations it will be necessary undoubtedly to place certain of the key figures under various types of surveillance. This will be for the purpose of determining the real identities of the controlling factors or principal individuals who are responsible for these conditions. This should be particularly as to how they are associated with persons in the respective office districts as well as their association with other individuals or groups existing in other parts of the country. As to each we desire to know what they are doing and planning on doing and how this may be developed to show a violation of Federal law.

At Chicago we have considered for suitable check as to their intimate associations and transactions the following persons accredited with being principals in the criminal syndicate: The brothers ALPHONSE, RALPH, MATHEW, and JOHN CAPONE, the brothers CHARLES, ROCCO and JOSEPH FISCHETTI, cousins of the CAPONE brothers, ANTHONY JOSEPH ACCARDO alias JOE BATTERS, and SAM GIANCIANO, the latter because of his close association with ACCARDO, JACK GUZIK, and HYMAN LEVIN, EDWARD VOGEL and MURRAY HUMPHRIES.

These individuals have always been accredited with being members of the Syndicate and have worked closely together with each other and others accused of similar activities. They have been the subject of frequent pickups by the police when a gangland killing occurs. This usually results in their appearing with their attorney and a writ after which they are released without any information being obtained except a denial of any knowledge of the subject matter under investigation where they are actually interviewed.

Re memo to SAC from SA J. F. GERDIS, dated 8/12/46, re Capga - EDWARD DAVID VOGEL, was.

On 8/8/46 the records of the Chicago Crime Commission, VIRGIL M. PETERSON, Operating Director, 79 W. Monroe St., Chicago, were checked by SA GERDIS and the following information concerning VOGEL was secured:

On 8/13/42 the Crime Commission received an anonymous letter which stated that if the authorities watched 1431 N. Ashland Ave., River Forest, sufficient information could be developed to form the basis for action against TONY ACCARDO, and that the latter's associates were EDDIE VOGEL, FRANK NITTI and LOUIE CAMPAGNI.

An anonymous letter received by the Crime Commission on 9/8/43 stated that the Dome, a large gambling room at 7466 W. Irving Park Blvd., was run by ED VOGEL, who pushed LIBBY out, and that the place was under the protection of the Sheriff.

VOGEL was also supposed to have a place called "The Wagon Wheel" at Narragansett and Melrose Aves. The LIBBY referred to, according to the Crime Commission, was probably ERCOLI LIBERATORE, alias DOMINICK NUNCIO.

In an anonymous telephone call received by the Commission on 9/15/43 from a man claiming to be a [redacted] information was furnished that all the [redacted] had been [redacted] headed by EDDIE VOGEL. In a memo dated 2/7/44 it was stated that JULIUS ZIMBEROFF, 544 Wellington St., Chicago, is the trouble shooter for VOGEL on the North Side and that GEORGE "BABE" TOFFENELLI is the trouble shooter for VOGEL on the South Side.

In a memo of 5/1/44, reviewing the activities of VINCENT MC ERLANE, information is set forth that MC ERLANE, a former member of the Saltis Beer Running Gang during prohibition, had as associates SAM HUNT, MURRAY HUMPHREYS, JACK GUZIK and EDDIE VOGEL, and that MC ERLANE was reported as interested in slot machines in the southwest corner of Cook County, extending as far as Joliet.

The records of the Reference Room of the "Chicago Tribune" were checked on 8/7/46 by SA GERDIS. In an article dated 10/25/41 the "Tribune" published some ledger sheets of the Syndicate which were allegedly found in JACK GUZIK's apartment. These ledger sheets, according to the newspaper account, were only seen by GUZIK, NITTI, VOGEL and HUMPHREYS, and pertained to the gambling activities of the Syndicate.

The profits in slot machines were split four ways, and all the profits from other gambling were split three ways, with the exclusion of VOGEL. The Syndicate heads were listed as JACK GUZIK, FRANK NITTI, MURRAY HUMPHREYS and EDWARD VOGEL, in that order. It was stated that the interests of VOGEL were confined entirely to slot machines.

In an article dated 11/18/41 reference was made to a grand jury action pertaining to slot machines in which two witnesses were GEORGE E. BLAUMAUSER, mayor, and TED HEINZ, Chief of Police, both of Skokie. In an article dated 4/6/42 it was stated that BLAUMAUSER was indicted for malfeasance the previous Saturday.

Re memo to SAC from SA MARK M. MC SHURLEY, dated 8/19/46, re CAPGA.

JACK GUZIK

On 8/19/46 SA MARK M. MC SHURLEY entered the barber shop of the Hotel Chicagoan at 12:50 p.m. At approximately 1:05 p.m. an individual who was later identified as EDDIE VOGEL, and who was wearing a dark blue double-breasted suit, red figured necktie and brown shoes, and having a large diamond ring on his left little finger, entered the barber shop and sat in the chair nearest the door. It was noted that VOGEL was friendly with the barbers and conversed with an individual sitting in the middle chair. This individual, referred to as FITZ, is described as:

Age 45 to 50
Height - 5'10"
Weight - 185
Hair - light gray, wavy
Complexion - ruddy
Descent - appeared Irish

VOGEL's conversation with this individual was very casual, consisting of purely a greeting. At approximately 1:10 p.m. JACK GUZIK entered the barber shop. GUZIK was also greeted by the above mentioned individual and the barbers and immediately struck up a conversation with VOGEL concerning the telephone company.

Only parts of this conversation could be heard by SA MC SHURLEY, but GUZIK was heard to say he didn't see how the telephone company would let them do it". VOGEL said, "They probably have some crackpot over there and are allowed to go on". GUZIK said, "They have lawyers to advise them in those things and I can't understand how they let it go". GUZIK further stated that he had just been talking with his attorneys and he had gone over everthing with them and that "they couldn't see where we were violating any law". GUZIK stated that he had called his wife and told her to be on the lookout.

GUZIK then talked in very low tones to VOGEL and then stated that he had gotten a bottle of medicine and went over to the wastebasket and picked up a small green bottle out of the barber shop wastebasket and brought it back. He said he had had it wrapped in a large package (he measured off approximately twelve inches with his hands) so it would look like a bundle of money. GUZIK followed this with additional conversation which could not be heard. GUZIK then told VOGEL that he had been up all the alleys and streets around his house. He said that if he found anyone tapping his phones - and then leaned over to VOGEL and the words following could not be heard. GUZIK was very nervous and seemed perplexed about the situation.

SA MC SHURLEY had to leave the barber shop at 1:30 p.m.

Many of the individuals associated with Capone during his rise and reign as gang leader are still active and are believed to be carrying on to the present time. The more prominent of these criminal associates include:

EDWARD VOGEL: Formerly an errand boy for AL CAPONE; now known as the No. One slot machine man in Chicago

P. 17

Relative to CAPONE's activities of the past few years since his release from Federal Penitentiary, a letter from the Miami Field Division dated 4/13/45, Chicago File No. 62-3375-104, contains a summary of the habits, activities and visitors of the AL CAPONE family at 93 Palm Ave., Palm Island, Miami Beach, Fla.

It was determined by Miami that JACK GUZIK, CHARLES IMBURGIO, ROCCO FISCHETTI and an unknown person named GUZZIE arrived in Miami from Chicago by train on 2/6/45 and during the approximate 2 weeks of their stay were frequent visitors at AL's home, either in the afternoons or evenings. EDDIE VOGEL and WILLIAM EDWARD HEENEY, who reside at 1780 Biarritz Drive, Miami Beach, were also frequent visitors to the CAPONE residence in 1945. It was developed through informants that the above Chicago hoodlums had various conference with AL at AL's request, which request was speedily honored, denoting that they still maintained a healthy respect for his opinions.

T-62 [redacted] advised that one ED, who might be EDDIE VOGEL, alleged slot machine king, or EDDIE STURCH, who is a body guard to "BOTCHIE" CONNORS, influential Democratic ward committeeman, had a talk with JOE FISCHETTI advising that he had been at the 11th Street Building trying to iron things out. The 11th Street Building is known as Police Headquarters. T-62 said apparently there had been some trouble over whether or not the books should be closed and that the Syndicate was having trouble in making the proper arrangements with the Police Executives. T-62 said that there was a discussion as to whether or not the situation warranted the "little guy" should handle it. The "little guy" referred to is probably JACK GUZIK. T-62 advised that later on ED ____ had contacted JACK GUZIK who advised ED that he would go down and see the individuals. Upon learning this information T-62 advised that JOE FISCHETTI was not satisfied with this action, that JACK GUZIK couldn't do that. T-62 concluded that JOE FISCHETTI made arrangements to meet ED at the jewelry store which is probably MEYER GORDON's, 21 E. Adams. T-62 advised that he would be unable to testify to this information in court.

Re report of SA AUGUST E. FIPP, JR., at Cincinnati, dated 11/30/46, re Reactivation of the Capone Gang.

Letter from the Chicago Office dated 8/30/46 contained the information that EDWARD DAVID VOGEL of 4300 Marine Drive, Chicago, an old Capone Gang member and a member of the syndicate in Chicago in charge of all slot machine activities, with the exception of Cicero, Ill., had called from Buckingham 8888, one of his two telephones, on June 17, 1946, the number Valley 4804 in Cincinnati, and desired to speak with Miss GLORIA MANILA.

The Cincinnati Telephone Directory lists this number under the name of BELLE ANDRAICCA, 1410 Lakeland Ave., Roselawn. According to T-2, this number has been in the name of BELLE ANDRAICCA since Nov. 13, 1933. Informant also furnished the information that the husband of this individual is named HERMAN, and HERMAN ANDRAICCA in 1933 was employed by the Nash Tailoring Co., Cincinnati. (T-2 is [redacted] b7D local Telephone Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.)

HERMAN and BELLE ANDRAICCA are not listed in the Cincinnati Directory. The Cincinnati Credit Co. has a report on BELLE ANDRAICCA dated 7/2/32, at which time she was residing at 16 Oaklawn Drive, Cincinnati. At that time she was in the employ of the Comello Brothers, a tailoring company in Cincinnati, where she had worked for the past 3 years. The report states that she gave as a reference RALPH ALTOMARE, whose record was very poor. The report also states that it was understood BELLE ANDRAICCA was the wife of RALPH ALTOMARE's brother, now deceased.

The report in capital letters notes that 16 Oaklawn Drive was the location of the well-known MINELLA family, all of whom bear a very poor commercial rating, and who are constantly trying various means and ways of buying cars. The report advised caution with respect to anyone at this location.

The Cincinnati Directory lists at the address 1410 Lakeland Ave., Roselawn, RAMON V. MINELLA, and also lists RAMON V. and BRIDGET B. MINELLA as restaurant operators, 2450 Gilbert Ave. and 1410 Lakeland, but does not list GLORIA MANILA or MINELLA.

A check of the records of the Identification Bureau of the Cincinnati PD and the office indices was made with negative results on HERMAN and BELLE ANDRAICCA and GLORIA MANILA or MINELLA.

It was ascertained that this telephone number is that of the Gotham Hotel, 5th Ave. and 55th St., New York City. Mr. CHARLES PETERS, room clerk at the Gotham Hotel, advised that rooms 903-4 had been occupied by MAX GERBER and C. J. BASSLER of Chicago, Ill., during the period June 12 through June 25, 1946. Re letter to Milwaukee from Chicago, dated 9/9/46, re Capga, Miscellaneous Information, Crime Survey.

Re: EDWARD DAVID VOGEL, was.

EDWARD DAVID VOGEL, who resides at 4300 Lake Shore Drive, Telephone 8873 and Buckingham 8888 is reputed to be the head of the slot machine racket for the Syndicate in Cook County and Northern Illinois. He is an old Capone hoodlum and in addition is an officer of the Apex Cigarette Service, Inc., one of the largest operators of juke boxes and other coin operated machines in the City of Chicago.

Information has been received that VOGEL, in the last two months has placed numerous telephone calls to Lake Geneva, Bay 3156. Information has been received that VOGEL's mother, Mrs. EMMA VOGEL, has been at Lake Geneva at a home which is believed to be owned by VOGEL.

The Milwaukee Office is requested to ascertained the identity of the subscriber to Bay 3156 and if the residence of this subscriber is not owned by VOGEL will secure background information concerning the owner of the residence unless, of course, it is a large hotel. If the residence is owned by VOGEL will secure all information concerning his purchase and any information which may be available concerning his activities at Lake Geneva. It is not believed that VOGEL spends any time at Lake Geneva other than on Sundays.

Re letter to Assistant Director E. J. CONNELLEY at Chicago, from Milwaukee, dated 9/23/46, re CAPGA.

Re: EDWARD DAVID VOGEL, was.

Reference is made to Chicago letter dated 9/9/46 advising that EDWARD DAVID VOGEL, who is reputed to be the head of the slot machine racket for the syndicate in Cook County in northern Illinois, in the last 2 months has placed numerous telephone calls to Lake Geneva, Bay 3156. Referenced letter has requested investigation concerning telephone number Bay 3156.

SA JOHN P. BRAUN, on 9/20/46, reported that telephone number Bay 3156 is listed to Mrs. EMMA VOGEL, Knollwood, Lake Shore Drive, Williams Bay, Wis. Mrs. VOGEL is the mother of EDWARD DAVID VOGEL. She lives in a modest summer home estimated to be worth about $6,000 with a widowed daughter. Mrs. VOGEL spends her summers in Williams Bay, Wis., where she has resided since 1942. She is alleged to be the present owner of her summer home. Mrs. VOGEL resides in Williams Bay only during the summer months. The rest of the year she resides in the Marine Drive Apts., Chicago, Ill. Her son, EDWARD DAVID VOGEL, is reported to visit her occasionally at Williams Bay. Another brother, name unknown, also visits at Williams Bay. Mrs. VOGEL does not associate with her neighbors. EDWARD DAVID VOGEL has no business connections in the Williams Bay area. It appears that his presence in the area is merely to visit his mother.

A check of the indices of the Chicago Office failed to reflect any record concerning one PENNE or PEENE. With reference to one "BUTCH", who was reportedly in San Francisco, Calif., about 3/1/46 with PENNE or PEENE, the Chicago files reflect numerous references to individuals having the nickname of BUTCH. It was impossible to definitely identify any of these individuals as being identical with the BUTCH who was in San Francisco in May. However, it is to be noted that in the case file on "EDWARD VOGEL, was., Racket Survey," VOGEL was arrested at the Hotel Chicagoan by Chief JOHN J. MC GINNIS of the Cook County Highway Police. Chief MC GINNIS advised at this time that VOGEL had a chauffeur known as Butch.

Re: MEYER LANSKY, PAUL LANSKY, DAN STROMBERG

The following investigation is predicated upon a teletype received from the Los Angeles Office on 7/31/46 advising that MEYER LANSKY, PAUL LANSKY and DAN STROMBERG departed from Los Angeles on 7/31/46, aboard the AT & SF train "The Chief" arriving at Chicago at 2:00 p.m. D.S.T., 8/2/46.

The New York Office by teletype dated 8/1/46 requested that the approximate time of LANSKY and party at New York City in order that their activities might be surveilled.

The following investigation was conducted by SAs JAMES R. MALLEY, EUGENE J. COBLE, RALPH J. O'CONNELL, S. DONALD DURFEE, and JAMES R. MC QUEEN on 8/1 and 2/46:

A check of the various airlines revealed that LANSKY held 3 reservations under his name for Flight No. 44, United Airlines, departing from Chicago at 10:00 p.m. D.S.T. with a 6:00 p.m. deadline for ticket pick-up, destination - New York City.

It was ascertained by SAs MALLEY, COBLE and MC QUEEN at the United Airlines New Terminal that the reservations for LANSKY and party were telephoned from the City Ticket Office to the Airport and they were held for them at the Airport until the time of departure of Flight No. 44. It was also ascertained that under potential passengers departing on Flight No. 44 under speculation on the passenger manifest, the second and third names were under the name of VOGEL.

Inquiry was made of the Night Dispatcher relative to the identity of VOGEL and he advised that the full name of a passenger is not obtained until the passenger calls for his reservations and actually boards the plane. It was believed by the surveilling agents that the reservations in the name of VOGEL might possibly have been held for EDWARD R. VOGEL. It is to be noted that this individual is alleged to control the slot machines in the area of Chicago and surrounding territory for and on behalf of the syndicate. Because of the fact that the VOGEL party did not actually board the Flight No. 44 it was impossible to make further identification of VOGEL.

SA JOHN F. GERDIS on 8/7/46 checked the records in the reference room of the Chicago Tribune, morning newspaper. In an article dated 10/25/41 the Tribune published some ledger sheets of the syndicate which were allegedly found in JACK GUZIK's apartment. These ledger sheets according to the newspaper account were only seen by GUZIK, NITTI, ED VOGEL and MURRAY HUMPHRIES and pertained to the gambling activities of the syndicate in Chicago.

Chief of Police ERNEST E. OVERBEY was interviewed with reference to his knowledge as to the activities of FRANCIS CURRY. Chief OVERBEY stated that FRANCIS CURRY in the earlier days had owned and operated several small taverns in Joliet and had previously been involved in the slot machine racket in Will County. CURRY is alleged to be a prodigy of EDDIE VOGEL, a notorious Chicago hoodlum who is presently the slot machine king of Will County.

LEO MONGOVEN, long-time public enemy, have added a new weapon to the arsenal of submachine guns and sawed-off shotguns with which - for the last 7 months - they have been hoisting slot machines of the Capone-Guzik-Levin syndicate in Lake County, Ill.

The new weapon is an acetylene cutting torch. It is used to remove built-in "one armed bandits" from tavern walls.

A confirmed rustic since his retirement as GEORGE "BUGS" MORAN's bodyguard, MONGOVEN is directing the campaign from his "summer resort" on Lake Bluff, 3 miles southwest of Antioch.

The guard around his estate has been doubled and bolstered with two Doberman Pinschers since he challenged the old Capone mob, whose Lake County representatives include ROCCO FISCHETTI and EDWARD "DUTCH" VOGEL.

"Chicago Sun", issue of 10/31/46, contained an article entitled "Harvest of Politics", "Lake County Voters Likely to Elect a New Slot-Machine Czar", by ARTHUR PETACQUE.

(This is the fourth article by Chicago Sun staff reporters investigating gambling in Illinois outside of Chicago. Their firsthand reports show to what extent gambling in counties under Republican control rivals gambling in Cook County a Democratic stronghold).

The article reflects that the fondest dreams of horse and dice players come true in the Republican controlled counties of downstate Illinois, but it isn't necessary to go that far afield to find all the dubious diversions of organized gambling.

In Lake County, Ill., on Chicago's very doorstep, there is a wealth and variety of gambling enterprises which make mouths water among Democratic Cook County's racketeers, at whom Governor GREEN has aimed some holier-than-thous campaign speeches.

But some of the Chicago racketeers are shedding tears at the present moment because WALTER ATKINSON, Lake County's Republican Sheriff, will yield to a successor in the Nov. 5 election.

Almost certain to be elected is ATKINSON's present chief deputy, THOMAS KENNEDY, who has let it be known that he will take away dictatorship of the Lake County slot machine racket from Cook County's Guzik-Levin-syndicate, the racket organized by "SCARFACE AL" CAPONE.

The gambling czar to whom KENNEDY will turn over the racket is LEO MONGOVEN, former bodyguard of GEORGE "BUGS" MORAN.

No newcomer in the Lake County gambling picture, MONGOVEN has had his ups and downs as the sheriff's office has been handed from one Republican to another.

He was boss of the rackets from 1938 to 1942 when KENNEDY was sheriff. But KENNEDY could not succeed himself, so ATKINSON, who was mayor of North Chicago, took over. It was said that substantial contributions to his campaign funds were made by the Guzik-Levin syndicate.

So when KENNEDY assumed office EDDIE "DUTCH" VOGEL and the FISCHETTI boys, ROCCO and CHARLIE, syndicate slot-machine impresarios, who live in a swank penthouse on the North Side, pushed MONGOVEN out.

Now, even before the election returns them to power "officially", MONGOVEN and his bully boys are helping history repeat itself by removing slot machines of their rivals from gambling resorts.

The article included a photo of EDDIE VOGEL.

The article reflected that Chicago's $5,000,000 a year juke box operation is part of the nation-wide FBI investigation into the automatic phonograph business, it was learned "today".

The inquiry is concerned with a monopoly enjoyed by a number of music box distributors and the muscle tactics of a number of preferred operators.

Since early in 1940 more than 50% of the juke box routes have been taken by the remnants of the Capone-Guzik syndicate or forced into partnership with members of the gang.

Some operators have even been forced out of business trying to combat the syndicate muscle.

One of the first complaints came to the attention of the Chicago Crime Commission in the form of a petition from 4 juke operators against Apex Cigarette Service, Inc., 4238 N. Lincoln Ave.

This company, also known to the trade as The Apex Phonograph Service, is owned jointly by EDWARD D. VOGEL and DAN MAHONEY.

VOGEL, who started out as an errand-boy for JACK GUZIK, also controls the slot machine concession in the southwest section of the country.

VOGEL is alleged to have an eighth grade education. He is dapper, financially independent, and has a contempt for law and law enforcement officials. It is alleged that he operated a tavern during the early 1920s and that he was subsequently errand boy for AL CAPONE and a lieutenant for BILLY SKIDMORE. In 1924 one EDWARD VOGEL made an affidavit as to the good character of FRANK CAPONE, brother of AL CAPONE, in connection with the issuance of a permit to carry a concealed weapon. Chief JOHN MC GINNIS, Cook County Highway Police, now deceased, in 1944 said VOGEL was boss of the Cook County slot machine racket except in Cicero and that he owed his power to JACK GUZIK. In Cicero VOGEL cooperated with JOE CORNGOLD, WILLIE HEENEY, and LOUIS LIPSCHULTZ, the brother-in-law of JACK GUZIK. His assistants and associates then were JULIUS ZIMBERLOFF, Chicago; GEORGE C. RUFFANELLI, Blue Island; WALTER BARNOWSKI, Blue Island; JAMES BITTNER; THOMAS SMICKLES, Skokie; TONY FRAGASSI, 8105 Cicero Ave., Oak Lawn; WILLIAM FRANCIS BENNETT, now employed at the Vernon Club; and THOMAS FRANK CERONE, Cicero.

On 10/25/41, the "Chicago Tribune" published a ledger sheets allegedly found in JACK GUZIK's apartment which listed GUZIK, NITTI, HUMPHREYS and VOGEL as heads of the alleged Syndicate in that perspective order.

More recently VOGEL is alleged to have operated The Dome, 7400 Irving Park Blvd. and The Esquire Club in Niles Center, both gambling establishments. He is alleged to control slot machine operations in Cook County outside of the city of Chicago at the present time. ROCCO DI GRAZIO is alleged to control slot machines in Melrose Park, Ill.; other than being a prominent underworld character, he participates in everything illegal. His exact connection with VOGEL is not known.

During June, 1945, VOGEL and his brother, WILLIE, attempted unsuccessfully to install slot machines in Elgin, Ill. Lt. ROBERT P. KOCH, Elgin PD, stated that Cook County slot machine interests are beginning an attempt to "muscle in" Du Page and Kane County, Ill.

Police Chief LOUIS THAYER, Woodstock, Ill., stated that LOUIS CERNOCKY secured race horse wire service for the Oakmore Club near Woodstock, Ill., through the efforts of EDDIE VOGEL. ARTHUR GREEN, who is a small operator of slot machines in Woodstock in competition with LOUIS CERNOCKY has been in touch with EDDIE VOGEL. Their connection or association is not known.

During Feb., 1945, VOGEL visited AL CAPONE in Miami, Fla. He maintains a very close relationship with JACK GUZIK, and contacts him almost daily at the Chicagoan Hotel Barbershop. VOGEL frequents EDDIE POSTL's Health Club, Monroe St., Chicago, with other prominent underworld characters. He spends a portion of his time in Florida.

contained an article entitled "Gambling Lid Off in County Until Dec. 2" by JAMES DOHERTY.

The article reflects that word has been spread over Cook County that slot machines and wide open gambling will be O.K. until the morning of Dec. 2, according to reports awaiting Sheriff Elect WALSH on his return to the city last night.

WALSH said he could do nothing this week about the hundreds of machines of the type known as one arm bandits, which are helping the JACK GUZIK-EDDIE VOGEL gang to cash in on its vote delivery deal with the Kelly Democratic organization.

"But I intend to hold the present sheriff, MICHAEL I. MULCAHY, responsible for the safety of all gambling devices supposed to be in his custody", WALSH declared, after hearing that employees of the Republican headquarters watched Sheriff's employees moving slot machines, roulette tables, and other gambling equipment out of the county building late Saturday afternoon.

At the Republican headquarters it was charged that the Democrats had entered into an agreement with the old Capone gangster syndicate, for which GUZIK is gambling boss and VOGEL is slot machine superintendent.

As it was explained, the Democrats were in desperate need of money for the Nov. 5 election and therefore permitted gambling to be resumed.

Slot machines were seen all over the county Saturday night and the VOGEL collections were reported to be enough to carry a few wards and still have something over.

"Chicago Daily News", issue of 11/24/46,

contained an article entitled "Gambling Probed in Skokie" by ARTHUR SOMMERFELD.

The article reflected that State's Attorney TUOHY is investigating gambling in the village of Skokie, northwest suburb.

Under probe is a blossoming-out of syndicate slot machines and the failure of village officials to stop this gambling.

The investigation originated on information supplied by the "Daily News". A tour of county gambling spots revealed that a new type of undersling slot machine had found its way into Skokie.

Further investigation developed the fact that WILLIE VOGEL and a henchman, TONY FRAGAICE, were frequent Skokie visitors.

WILLIE is a lieutenant of his brother, EDDIE. EDDIE VOGEL has been long known to police as syndicate slot machine boss of the Northwest county regions.

"Chicago Sun", issue of 9/4/47, contained an article entitled "Tuohy Threat to Fire Two Is Denied", "Witnesses Called Shaky in Gang Slaying Stories", "Crowley Hits Testimony of Police in Ragen Case", "Denies Tuohy Threatened to Get Drury and Connelly Fired for Guzik Arrest".

The article reflects that First Assistant State's Attorney WILBERT F. CROWLEY assailed testimony by Lt. WILLIAM DRURY and Capt. THOMAS CONNELLY as he took the witness stand "last night" in the suspended officers' trial before the Civil Service Commission.

CROWLEY denied that his boss, State's Attorney TUOHY, ever threatened to have DRURY and CONNELLY fired for arresting JACK GUZIK, chief of Chicago's gambling syndicate.

He also gave damaging testimony against DRURY and CONNELLY in connection with their handling of 3 witnesses to the shooting of JAMES M. RAGEN, SR., on 6/24/46.

The suspended officers are charged with unbecoming conduct in their investigation of the RAGEN case.

CROWLEY was called to rebut the testimony of DRURY and CONNELLY by RICHARD B. AUSTIN, assistant state's attorney who is prosecuting charges against the policemen.

DRURY and CONNELLY were summoned to TUOHY's office last Nov. 27, two days after GUZIK's arrest, CROWLEY said, because a newspaper article implied that the state's attorney's office was impeding the investigation of the RAGEN case.

AUSTIN read a transcript of the Nov. 27 meeting between CROWLEY and DRURY in which DRURY reported to the prosecutor that the syndicate had forced JACK KEESHIN, wealthy sportsman, to sell Sportsman's Park race track in Cicero.

Questioned at that time as to where he got his information, DRURY replied that the Most Rev. BERNARD J. SHEIL, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, had told him.

The transcript then showed that TUOHY asked DRURY if the bishop had revealed his source of information and DRURY replied: "He did not. I don't think the bishop would lie to me. He is my pastor".

KEESHIN announced the sale of a controlling interest in Sportsman's Park to WILLIAM JOHNSTON and the late CHARLES W. BIDWELL last Oct. 28.

Asked if he followed up on the bishop's tip, DRURY replied that he did not because the track "is not in Chicago. It's in Cicero."

In the transcript, TUOHY then asked DRURY whom he referred to when he spoke of the Syndicate.

DRURY, the record showed, answered with the names of JACK GUZIK, HYMIE LEVIN, MURRAY HUMPHREYS, RALPH PIERCE, WILLIE HEENEY, EDDIE VOGEL, SAM HUNT, JOHNNY MOORE, TONY ACCARDO and "probably the FISCHETTI brothers and ROCCO DE GRAZIA of Melrose Park.

"Chicago Sun", issue of 12/6/46, contained an article entitled "Payment from Mayor Divided with Board, Police Chief Alleges".

The article reflected that a story of large payoffs to Skokie village officials to permit slot machines to operate unhampered in the suburb was unfolded before the grand jury yesterday by Skokie's chief of police, THEODORE HEINZ.

HEINZ reportedly told the grand jury that the payments were made to him by Mayor JOHN WUERTH of Skokie with instructions to distribute part of the money to five members of the six-man village board and to members of the police dept.

State's Attorney WILLIAM J. TUOHY and ROBERT L. DONIGAN, assistant state's attorney, who is conducting the gambling investigation, were attempting to link the pay-offs with EDDIE and WILLIE VOGEL, brothers who police say conduct slot machine operations in the north suburbs for the Guzik-Levine syndicate.

"Chicago Daily News", issue of 12/10/46, contained an article entitled "Oak Park Police Nab Slot Man in Gunfight", "Coin Boxes, Receipts in Home of Eddie Vogel's District Boss".

The article reflected that after two gun battles, Oak Park police early "today" captured JOHN GOLDING of 619 S. Lombard, a reputed figure in the slot machine empire.

GOLDING was taken to the office of First Assistant State's Attorney WILBERT F. CROWLEY for questioning about his activities.

GOLDING's setto with the police began when Detective Sergeants CLARENCE MAU and FRED KRUEGER stopped their squad car to question a suspicious-looking man behind the fashionable four-apartment building owned by GOLDING.

The man - GODDING - began shooting and ran.

Trapped later under a porch by Policemen LAWRENCE HOFFMAN and ROBERT KALBFELL, GOLDING traded bullets until his automatic was empty. Then he surrendered.

Slot machine receipts and coin boxes were found in his home, Chief JOHN KEARIN said. They carried the names of the Playhouse, Shuffle Inn, White House, Bungalow Inn, Wurm's, Mac and Grace's and Bright Star - all in Franklin Park or Schiller Park.

Sgt. MAU declared GOLDING is district boss of Franklin Park, Schiller Park, River Grove and Elmwood Park for EDDIE VOGEL, gambling czar in the northwest suburban area.

62-3519-125

"Chicago Daily Tribune", issue of 12/12/46, contained an article entitled "Steffens, Tuohy Race for Agent of Gaming Gang", "Both Seek Suspected Slot Machine 'Enforcer'" by JAMES DOHERTY.

The article reflected that radio orders were issued "last night" by Chief ROY M. STEFFENS of Sheriff WALSH's police dept. to arrest ANTHONY PAUL FRAGASSI, supposed agent of the Guzik-Vogel slot machine and gambling syndicate. At the same time, police of State's Attorney TUOHY's staff were seeking FRAGASSI in connection with the grand jury investigation of slot machine operation and bribery of village officials.

Several witnesses told the grand jury "yesterday" that FRAGASSI was the man who forced them to permit slot machines to operate in their taverns in the village of Skokie. He was described as an agent of ED VOGEL, right hand man of JACK GUZIK in the crime and gambling gang that has operated unchecked in the county for many years.

The grand jury also ordered the arrest of a man whose name was given only as MURPHY and said to be the agent who planted slot machines all over Schiller Park during the recent political campaign. His name was supplied by Investigator GUS BARTELS of TUOHY's staff, who was following the trail of JOHN GOLDING, the Oak Park gunman who was seized "Tuesday" after he tried to shoot the policemen who stopped him for questioning.

GOLDING, supposedly a lieutenant of VOGEL, had slot machine collection records in his home, and it was these papers that sent BARTELS to Schiller Park - which is a neighboring village to Morton Grove and Skokie which were under grand jury scrutiny. The saloonkeepers there didn't know know GOLDING, they said, but knew MURPHY.

First Assistant State's Attorney WILBERT F. CROWLEY recalled that in a previous slot machine investigation the name of one of VOGEL's collectors appeared on seized documents as MURPH. But he wasn't found then.

Re memo to SAC from SA JOHN F. GLENVILLE, dated 1/11/47, re Capga.

On 1/11/47 Assistant Director L. B. NICHOLS called from Washington, stating that he had received a telephone call from a reporter of the Chicago Times newspaper. The reporter stated that he had received information that an examination of shotgun shells used in the killing of JAMES M. RAGEN, SR., was made by the FBI. As a result of the examination it was proven that the shotgun used in the killing of RAGEN was also used in the killing of 3 other Chicago gangsters, these men being STANTON, DORMAN and "RED" FAWCETT. The reporter, according to Mr. NICHOLS, told him that an article had appeared in the Chicago Herald-American newspaper setting out the above information. Mr. NICHOLS requested SA GLENVILLE to determine if any press releases had been issued by the Chicago Office and to determine the source if possible of the above information, and when such information was ascertained to call Mr. NICHOLS back.

A review of the Chicago Herald-American Turf edition (morning edition) revealed that the Chicago Herald-American carried the headline on page one in red type, "Ragen Death Gun Killed Four". The article was written by ELGAR BROWN, a feature writer of the Chicago Herald-American. The article stated in part under the caption of, "Fired From Same Gun":

"But it is now an absolute certainty that the slugs which felled RAGEN, whose dying statements cast deep suspicion on enemies in the Capone-Guzik-Levin-Vogel setup, came from the identical weapon that killed Stanton, Dorman, Fawcett".

The article continued on page two concerning the examination by the FBI:

"Weapons used by Ragen's killers were found. The death truck was abandoned at 46th Street and Normal blvd. Several boys took a joy ride in it, confiscated two .12 gauge shotguns and a repeating rifle and cached them in a garage at 4510 South Lowe Avenue."

The following was in heavy type:

"Here police discovered them and sent them to Washington. Subsequently, the FBI, through an impression made by a firing pin on a slug found in Ragen's body, identified one shotgun as that used in the crime".

SA GLENVILLE called Assistant Director NICHOLS and read the above excerpts from the newspaper article and explained to him that no press releases on the above had been issued by the Chicago Office. It was also explained to Mr. NICHOLS that during the course of the Capga Investigation that the Chicago Herald-American newspaper had carried stories of the FBI activities in the Ragen murder case which were absolutely not true and strictly "dream stories".

"Chicago American", issue of 1/22/47, contained an article entitled "Syndicate Ready for Al's Death".

The article reflected that whether AL CAPONE lives another day or 10 more years, his death, when it comes, will cause no great reprecussions in the Chicago area, where he founded the greatest criminal empire in history.

This was the consensus "today" of officials who witnessed the decline of "The Big Fellow".

Federal officials here and in Washington estimated that when CAPONE entered prison he had about $200,000 invested in legitimate enterprises, including the liquor business.

LOUIS (LITTLE NEW YORK) CAMPAGNA and PAUL RICCA took care of his business and saw to it he got every cent that was coming to him for years.

Then, when they, with six others were sent to prison in 1943 for helping extort $3,000,000 from movie producers, others took over, including JACK (GREASY THUMB) GUZIK, MURRAY (THE CAMEL) HUMPHRIES, and EDDIE VOGEL.

These latter three now head what is left of the old Capone syndicate, according to the observers.

A)62-3679-638

"Chicago Sun", issue of 1/26/47, contained an article entitled "Capone's Pals Still in Rackets".

The article reflected that more than a score of AL CAPONE's old associates of the Roaring 20's are still active. In Chicago, most of them are connected in one capacity or another with the still functioning crime syndicate CAPONE built up on a foundation of bootleg beer.

Their activities have changed. No longer do they have lucrative incomes from illicit liquor and brothels. Most of them are now connected with gambling and other assorted rackets.

CAPONE associates still active around town include:

EDDIE VOGEL - Boss of the North Side and north suburban slot machine and juke box unit of the syndicate. He is an old-timer in the mob. His brother, WILLIE, recently was indicted with Skokie officials for conspiracy to operate gambling in the village.

"Chicago Daily Tribune", issue of 3/13/47, contained an article entitled "Arrest Vogel, But He won't Talk, Gets Out".

The article contained a photo of VOGEL.

The article reflected that resplendant in an expensive gray suit and a coat of Florida tan, EDDIE VOGEL, king pin of the slot machine racket in suburban Cook County, was arrested "yesterday" by Sgt. TIM O'CONNELL of the detective bureau as VOGEL emerged from the Maryland Hotel, 900 Rush St.

VOGEL refused to talk to State's Attorney TUOHY and TUOHY's first assistant, WILBERT F. CROWLEY, about slot machines. He refused to talk to police about the slaying of JOHN E. GOLDING, of 619 S. Lombard, Oak Park, as GOLDING sat in his auto in front of 37 S. Halsted St., Feb. 14.

In the afternoon he appeared before Chief Justice HAROLD G. WARD in Criminal Court on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by his attorney MICHAEL BRODKIN and was ordered released when police said they had no evidence on which to charge him with anything.

Slot machines continue to be operated in the balance of Cook County, but this activity is hindered by the successful raids of the Sheriff's Police under the leadership of ex-FBI Agent JOHNSON. EDDIE VOGEL still maintains his residence at 4300 Marine Drive, Chicago. He is still considered as the slot machine king in Chicago. No information is available as to his present activities. However, it is known that he is still in Chicago and has been seen by several of the police informants, but he has not been in any activity which would bring him before the police in recent months.

Capt. JOHN WARREN of the 40th District, Chicago PD, has advised that from all indications, EDDIE VOGEL is now head of slot machines throughout the United States and is responsible for their transfer from place to place, which, of course, is extending his jurisdiction from the Chicago area to the area of the United States. This fact, however, has not been substantiated to date.

Skokie, Ill., Slot Machine Investigation

The following information was garnered from newspaper items appearing in Chicago publications and concerns the slot machine investigation conducted in Skokie, Ill., during the early part of 1947.

An article appearing in the "Chicago Sun" on 5/8/47 reflected that the Skokie gambling conspiracy trial opened at the Criminal Court in Chicago with the defendants assuming the offense and hurling charges of bribery and conspiracy against a state witness. The state charged that at least $1,200 had been given as bribes to the mayor, police chief and trustees of the village to permit the presence of slot machines. The defense retaliated by charging that at least $10,000 had been offered to trustees to permit the diversion of tax-foreclosure cases to a single law office, and that the gambling charges were merely "spite and retaliation" because the offer was refused. The case was heard before Judge JOHN A. SBARBARO.

On trial were THEODORE HEINZ, Chief of Police who originally was reported to have told the story of the gambling bribes to the grand jury, WILLIAM P. PERMER and HARRY HOFFMAN, village trustees, WILLIE VOGEL, brother of EDDY VOGEL, slot machine czar, and TONY FRAGASSI, henchman of VOGEL.

On 9/29/47, Chicago Sun reporters called at the Lake County Sheriff's Office to interview Sheriff ALBERT ATKINSON.

Out of the interview with ATKINSON, which lasted approximately 10 minutes, Chicago Sun reporters in the Oct. 3rd issue reported the following answers given by Sheriff ATKINSON:

When ATKINSON stated he did not believe LEO MONGOVEN or EDDIE VOGEL had anything to do with slot machine operations in the county, he was asked who did run the slot machines. His reply was: "I'm pretty sure that all of the machines here are controlled by local men. I don't mean any one group, but possibly by some thirty men, all local boys".

The article reflected that GEORGE R. BIEBER and MICHAEL H. BRODKIN are the principal partners in the firm of Brodkin & Bieber, 160 N. La Salle St., one of four or five law firms which handle the great bulk of the defense business in the Criminal Court Bldg.

In recent years BRODKIN and BIEBER have represented, among others, such well-known syndicate agents as EDDIE VOGEL, slot machine boss.

"Chicago Sun", issue of 9/15/47, contained an article entitled "Detective Chief Unquotes His Quotes on Hoodlums" by ART PETACQUE.

The article reflected that Chief of Detectives WALTER STORMS, who announced to the Chicago press Saturday that he would be personally responsible for the arrest and conviction of 20 leading Chicago hoodlums, was unable "yesterday" to remember having made such a statement.

Reached by telephone at Twin Lakes, Wis., where he was spending the weekend, STORMS declared to a Sun reporter that he had been "misquoted again".

"Would you care to name the 20 hoodlums for whose arrest you said you would be personally responsible?" he was asked.

"What 20 hoodlums?"

"Don't you remember yesterday? Didn't you read the newspapers?"

"Yes, I saw the papers, but I don't know where they got that stuff. I've been misquoted again"..

"Aren't there any hoodlums that you are going to run out of town?"

"Yes"

"Well, who are they?"

"No comment".

"Would their names be among those of the 41 hoodlums subpoenaed by the grand jury after The Dome scandal in 1944?"
(The Dome, a Capone-Guzik-Levin syndicate gambling establishment at 7466 Irving Park Road, was raided by County Highway Police in 1944, but gambling paraphernalia confiscated at that time supposedly was later returned to the syndicate.)

In reply to this question STORMS said he couldn't remember who was subpoenaed by the grand jury.

The article reflected that detectives and policemen at the Summerdale Station are "getting acquainted, pictorially" with Chicago's 29 top hoodlums.

Capt. JOHN WARREN, now commanding that district and former deputy chief of detectives, has made up a "private rogues' gallery" containing the pictures of the 29.

Every policeman on duty in the district has been given orders by Capt. WARREN to study the pictures so they will recognize the originals. Capt. WARREN told his officers:

MUTCHLER admits having worked many years for the Chicago Syndicate taking care of their slot machine interests in several counties near Chicago. EDDIE VOGEL was his boss. Capt. BREESH of the Second District, Bedford Park PD, stated it was common knowledge that NOVAK operated handbooks in both the 4817 Club and the Hilltop Lounge, and that in the past NOVAK had serviced slot machines in the area known now as Clearing Industrial District. He also stated that it was his opinion that EDDIE VOGEL, alleged Chicago Syndicate member, was NOVAK's boss.

Re letter to Chicago from Philadelphia, dated 1/20/49, re General Crime Survey, Chicago Field Division.

RAYMOND CHALIKIAN, 6157 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, appeared at the Philadelphia Office on 1/12/49 and advised that he arrived in Chicago from Philadelphia on or about 10/22/48 intending to obtain employment. On or about Nov. 2, GEORGE H. NADIAN, a second cousin of the complainant and who according to the complainant is a well known racketeer in the Chicago area, proposed that CHALIKIAN invest his money in NADIAN's "Reville Inn", 400 Des Plaines Ave., Forest Park, Ill. About Nov. 7th, the complainant began living with NADIAN and his wife, 2006 S. 17th, Broadview, Ill., and between that time and Nov. 17th gave NADIAN $2,850 as a share in the Reville Inn, including a $600 loan on his car, approximately $450 in cash and approximately $1800 in checks drawn on the Upper Darby, Pa., National Bank. After obtaining this money, everything the complainant then possessed, NADIAN then began to create situations discrediting CHALIKIAN's reputation suggesting that the complainant was "fooling around" with his wife and even informing CHALIKIAN's mother that he had been picked up by the Forest Park Police on a sex offense, both of which accusations the complainant vehemently denied.

According to the complainant, NADIAN's purpose was to force CHALIKIAN to leave Chicago and forget his investment in the Reville Inn, and upon the complainant's request to refund his investment, NADIAN refused to do so. The complainant then returned to Philadelphia and an attempt by his mother to obtain the money from the NADIANs was again unsuccessful.

CHALIKIAN advised that NADIAN is a subordinate of ED VOGEL, the slot machine king of Chicago and recently featured in a Life Magazine article on Chicago racketeers. He stated that Mrs. ANN FENNER, 2618 N. Lakeview Ave., sister of NADIAN and girl friend of VOGEL, was probably involved, too.

The complainant stated that his cancelled checks were to be sent to him in care of GEORGE NADIAN, but that he never received them and suspected that they had been intercepted by NADIAN. He advised that the Upper Darby National Bank was obtaining photostats of the checks and already gave him a letter stating that the checks actually had been sent to NADIAN's address.

EDWARD DAVID VOGEL

On 3/2/50 an article in the Chicago Daily Tribune, a daily newspaper, stated that VOGEL had recently taken over the installation of contraceptive machines in taverns, gas stations, and other places of business, and was forcing some places of business to install these machines where they would be readily available.

The above mentioned newspaper article concerning wire service reflected that the Norman Bailey Foods of 64 W. Randolph St. was listed as subscriber. This article stated that FRANK "CHEW TOBACCO" RYAN operated a handbook at this address for several years.

It should be noted that RYAN has been a close associate and confidant of VOGEL for a number of years.

According to [redacted] VOGEL is still in charge of all slot machine activities in the Chicago area, reporting directly to JACK GUZIK. This informant stated, however, that GEORGE C. TUFFANELLI, aka. Babe, is in charge of all slot machine activities in the suburbs out of Chicago and that there is a strict delimitation between VOGEL and TUFFANELLI. b7D

"Chicago Herald American," Racing Edition, issue of 6/1/50, p. 8, col. 2, contained an article entitled "Big Ulcer Expose!", "Probers to Find Racketeers Here Just Need Doctor" by ELGAR BROWN.

The article reflected that Sen. KEFAUVER's special investigating committee, coming to Chicago to question 44 key gangsters, should bring a formidable medical staff and be prepared for a lot of bedside interviews.

Nothing is more conducive to ulcers, it seems, than constantly peering over you shoulder to see who's preparing to let you have it.

A Herald-American survey revealed "today" that enough big, little and inbetween underworld characters are dying in bed nowadays to make the hardened hoodlums of yesterday blush in shame.

Nothing is wrong - physically, that is - with EDDIE VOGEL, who still directs the organization's slot machine division from his Forest Park offices.

"Chicago Daily News", 3 Star Final Edition, issue of 7/7/50, p. 5, cols. 4-5, contained an article entitled "Peculiar Affinity", "Tells Capone Mobs Liking for Jukes" by EDWIN A. LAHEY, Staff Writer, which reflects the following:

Washington - Testimony before the Senate crime committee indicates that the Capone mob and their associates have a peculiar affinity for juke boxes and other coin-operated devices.

One reason for this affinity, observers believed, is that there is a high premium on sales aggressiveness in this branch of the distributive trades, and sales aggressiveness is what the Capone mob and their associates have the most of.

VIRGIL M. PETERSON, director of the Chicago Crime Commission, who resumed his testimony before the Kefauver committee "Friday", touched occasionally upon the "legitimate" interests of mobsters and their friends.

EDDIE VOGEL, the big slot machine man in Cook County, was deep in the juke box business at one time, and today is secretary and treasurer of another coin machine concern, the Apex Cigarette Service, Inc., of 1010 George St., PETERSON said.

Washington, July 6 - VIRGIL PETERSON, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, "today" put the finger on those he accuses as the overlords of Chicago's crime, gambling, and vice for the senate crime investigating committee.

Sen. KEFAUVER (D., Tenn.), the committee chairman, told the Tribune "tonight" the committee will summon many of those named when the committee holds hearings in Chicago on July 21 and 22.

PETERSON pictured the survivors of the old Capone gang of the prohibition era as the principal figures in a nation-wide organization that controls the underworld of Chicago and stretches out its hold, in cooperation with associated organizations, to New York, Florida, and California.

He told the committee those he named have seized control of legitimate as well as illegitimate enterprises. They are heavily interested, he said, in real estate, financial firms, manufacturing, and in the wholesale and retail liquor business.

Included among those PETERSON named as principal figures, with a resume of what he told the committee about them was:

EDWARD VOGEL, who, PETERSON said, is the slot machine king of Cook County and one of the owners of a cigarette vending company.

Re: DANIEL "GIMP" MAHONEY

Information in Chicago files indicates that DANIEL J. MAHONEY, wa. "Gimp", was listed with 13 others as known to be connected with the slot machine racket in the Chicago area. Slot machines are reported to be under control of EDWARD DAVID VOGEL, who is connected with the old Capone Gang.

This information also indicates that in addition to the slot machine operations VOGEL and DANIEL J. MAHONEY operate the Apex Cigarette Service in Chicago, which has an operation of approximately 700 juke boxes and 1,000 cigarette machines.

Information received from E. C. STEFFINS, former President of the International Association of Electric Phonograph Owners, indicates that Apex is one of the largest operators of automatic coin machines in Chicago, that DANIEL MAHONEY is president, but that the company is believed to be run by EDWARD VOGEL.

"Chicago Daily News", 5 Star Edition, issue of 8/29/50, p. 3, col. 1, contained an article entitled "Here Are Men Called For Crime Quiz Here", "Sketches of Those Who Face Questioning by Senate Group".

The article reflected brief biographies of those being subpoenaed by the Kefauver committee investigating the tie-in between gambling, politics and crime. Included was:

EDDIE VOGEL, boss of the slot machine business in Cook County. He has been named as one of the top figures in a multimillion dollar national slot machine empire. The state's attorney's office charges that recently he branched out into another business - forcing suburban saloons and gas stations to install his contraceptive vending machines.

"Chicago Daily News", Turf Edition, issue of 8/30/50, p. 1, col. 7, contained an article entitled "Writs Name Elrod and Sax", "60 Persons, 37 Firms Ordered to Appear, Bring All Records".

The article reflected that ARTHUR X. ELROD, county commissioner and Democratic 24th ward boss, is named in a subpoena issued by the Senate Committee investigating crime and politics.

The committee's agents moved into Chicago "Tuesday".

Also named is GEORGE D. SAX, a director of the Exchange National Bank of Chicago, 130 S. La Salle St., and millionaire owner of the Saxony Hotel, Miami Beach.

Some of the other persons named in subpoenas are bookies, betting commissioners, gamblers, policy wheel and racing news wire service operators, slot machine manufacturers, and liquor distributors.

The subpoenas call for the appearance "forthwith" of the persons concerned, with all their records, before Sen. KEFAUVER's committee. In the case of corporations, all records are demanded.

Among those named in subpoenas was:

The Apex Cigarette Vending Machine Co., 4238 Lincoln Ave., owned by EDDIE VOGEL, Cook county slot machine boss and contraceptive distributor.

"Chicago Daily Sun-Times", Late Final Edition, issue of 8/30/50, p. 3, col. 3, contained an article entitled "Crime Probe Hunts Capone Associates" by RAY BRENNAN.

The article reflected that U. S. Senate crime investigators "Wednesday" pushed their search for 30 Chicagoans - including oldtime associates of AL CAPONE - from whom they want details of their varied operations. All who can be caught will be required to testify before-and show books and bank balances to-the Kefauver committee in secret hearings, probably during October.

Although the committee agents now in Chicago brought relatively few subpoenas, at least 100 persons are expected to be called from this area.

EDWARD VOGEL, often named as a slot-machine operator for the combine, and JOSEPH (GIMP) MAHONEY, his partner in a cigarette-vending machine firm, were ready to take subpoenas.

In charge of running down the witnesses here is GEORGE ROBINSON, a veteran special investigator and expert on operations of handbook wire networks.

Actual serving of the subpoenas is being done by agents of VIRGIL PETERSON, operating director of the crime commission, ROBINSON said.

They expressed surprise that those whose names have been linked with CAPONE gangsterism apparently were ready to accept service and testify. One of the investigators explained:

"They evidently have been told by their lawyers that they can't get out of testifying. The committee will be doing business until next February, and the boys can't figure on hiding out for that long".

62-3519-813

"Chicago Daily Sun-Times", Late Final Edition, issue of 8/31/50, p. 42, col. 1, contained an article entitled "Likely Witnesses in Inquiry Listed".

The article reflected that VIRGIL PETERSON, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission said "Thursday" he expected Chicagoans he named in Senate crime committee testimony would be called as witnesses.

In addition to naming individuals - mostly gamblers - he gave the committee a secret list of 80 Chicago business concerns suspected of being controlled by Capone gangsters and racketeers.

Included on a list of the persons named by PETERSON, with comments about them from his sworn testimony, was:

EDDIE VOGEL, slot machine boss, secretary and treasurer of the Apex Cigarette Service, 1010 George.

"Chicago Daily Sun-Times", Late Final Edition, issue of 9/5/50, p. 12, col. 1, contained an article entitled "Crime Probers Plan Crackdown To Corral Evaders of Inquiry" by RAY BRENNAN.

The article reflected that agents for the U. S. Senate crime investigation committee will set out in earnest "Tuesday" to run down Chicago's skithering gambling and racket bosses.

GEORGE S. ROBINSON, associate counsel in charge of Chicago affairs for the committee said "Monday" that business concerns suspected of gangster control are complying readily with orders to send in books and records.

However, Chicago Crime Commission investigators, working for ROBINSON, had little luck serving writs on such characters as EDDIE VOGEL.

Agents who called at their homes and offices were told the wanted men were "not in today" or that they were "out of the city".

It was believed some were avoiding possible involvement over the holiday and might show up at ROBINSON's office in the U. S. Courthouse in a day or two to accept subpoenas.

If they continue to evade service of the writs--calling for their financial files for the last 10 years and subsequent testimony before the committee - FBI agents may be assigned to find them.

"Chicago Daily Sun Times", 3 Star Final Edition, issue of 10/15/52, p. 74, col. 1, contained an article entitled "You Bet It's Sure - for Racketeers", which reflected the following:

Philadelphia - Do you enjoy dropping a coin in a slot machine, just to watch the wheels spin - and maybe win the jackpot?

(Chicago's EDDIE VOGEL, one of the richest men in the rackets, got that way off slots profits).

This parenthetical observation comes from sworn testimony before the U. S. Senate Committee to Investigate Organized Crime.

The chairman, ESTES KEFAUVER, is being astounded practically every day by the astronomical figures behind the dollar signs of gambling money.

All of the committee members and staff workers say the figures prove - first and foremost - the old sayings that "horse players always die broke" and "you can't beat the house percentage" and "there's a sucker born every minute".

KEFAUVER and his colleagues hope some of the amazing stories unfolded in Chicago, Kansas City, Miami, New York, Philadelphia and other cities will serve as powerful lessons for people who bet.

"Chicago Daily News", 1 Star Final Edition, issue of 10/18/50, p. 12, col. 1, contained an article entitled "Reveal Boyle Service As Slot King's Attorney", "Helped Win Tax Reductions For Two Eddie Vogel Firms".

The article reflected that State's Attorney JOHN S. BOYLE won 5 big tax reductions for 2 hoodlum-controlled coin machine outfits in the 2 years before he was elected prosecutor.

The 2 firms, which he represented as a lawyer, are partly owned by EDDIE VOGEL. He is Cook County's slot machine boss and a longtime Capone syndicate henchman.

The firms are Apex Phonographs, juke-box operators, and Apex Cigarette Service, Inc., a distributor of vending machines. Both are at 4238 Lincoln Ave.

BOYLE's work for the 2 firms in 1946 and 1947 saved them about $4,000 in personal property taxes. One case he argued before the Board of Tax Appeals just 4 months before he was named to run for prosecutor.

Result: A $37.20 settlement of a $1,348.16 tax bill.

62-3375-2031

"Chicago Herald American", 8 Star Final Edition, issue of 11/10/50, p. 7, col. 3, contained an article entitled "Crime Probers Quiz Head of Warehouse".

The article reflected that PATRICK DUNN, head of Dunn Brothers Storage Warehouse, Inc., 6542 N. Clark St., appeared "today" before the Kefauver crime investigating committee in answer to a telephone call.

DUNN was asked by investigators why his name appeared as indorsement on checks seized in connection with the investigation of EDDIE VOGEL, known as Chicago's "slot machine king".

VOGEL, who lives at 4300 Marine Drive, is 1 of 27 witnesses under subpoena to appear before the committee who are still missing.

DUNN told reporters:

"I am a business man and know nothing about rackets and crime. Vogel stored furniture in our warehouse several times and gave checks in payment. He did not store slot machines or juke boxes - just furniture. Some of his furniture is now stored in the warehouse.

"I don't know where he is now".

In connection with gambling, the name of EDDIE VOGEL was brought up in an article in the 7/15/51 issue of the "Chicago Herald American". This article reported that the Chicago Crime Commission alleged widespread Syndicate controlled gambling in Cook County, and listed three places controlled by VOGEL, among others, where gambling is flourishing. These places are reported to be Ralph's Place in Northfield Township, the Fort on Lake Avenue near Glenview, and a small bungalow on Skokie Highway, south of the county line.

with 1951 Illinois license number 9c9-189.

A check of the records reflected that this license was issued to Mrs. A. E. FENNER, 2618 Lakeview Ave., Chicago, on a Cadillac.

At the time of his arrest, VOGEL was described as being 55 years old, height - 5'6½", weight - 190 lbs. He had hazel eyes and brown, graying hair with a medium complexion and stocky build. He had a small cut scar on the bridge of his nose.

62-3519-932

"Chicago Daily News", 5 Star Final Edition, issue of 1/17/51, p. 3, col. 1, contained an article entitled "Could Tell Probers of Vogel's Slot Racket" by EDWIN A. LAHEY, Staff Writer, which reflected the following:

Cleveland - The Senate crime committee will put some belated chapters of the Chicago story into the record at hearings that began here "Wednesday".

Sen. KEFAUVER (D., Tenn.), chairman of the committee, said subpoenas had been served on 3 Chicago witnesses for their appearance on "Friday".

The witnesses include GEORGE S. MAY, owner of the Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

It was learned that KEFAUVER hoped to show through the testimony of GEORGE MAY that EDDIE VOGEL, the Capone gangster, has a throttling hold on slot-machine operations in Cook County.

KEFAUVER's hope is based on the assumption that MAY will be a cooperative witness - an assumption not justified by past interviews between MAY and the committee staff.

Committee investigators have been informed that when MAY, a nationally known industrial engineer, purchased control of the Tam O'Shanter Club, he found that VOGEL had a 40 per cent interest in the slot machines, and that a collector for VOGEL named "JULIUS" came to the club periodically and emptied the machines.

The committee further has been informed that on one occasion there was a fire at Tam O'Shanter, and that MAY, in reconditioning the club, put in several new slot machines.

The fire, which burned the $100,000 clubhouse to the ground, was in April 1936. The late JOHN TOMAN was sheriff then. After these machines were installed, the committee was told, a representative of the sheriff's office in Cook County advised MAY to make a telephone call to a specific number. VOGEL, the slot-machine king, answered the phone when MAY put through the call, the committee has been informed.

VOGEL, it was reported, asked MAY how much he had paid for the new machines in Tam O'Shanter, and the club owner said $1,800.

On the following day, according to information compiled by the committee, MAY received a check for $1,800, and the 40 per cent arrangement with VOGEL continued without interruption.

MAY has been in difficulties with State's Attorney BOYLE over the Tam O'Shanter slot machines, and for this reason might refuse to discuss for the record the information already compiled by the Kefauver committee.

62-3519-945

"Chicago Daily News", 3 Star Final Edition, issue of 1/24/51, p. 8, col. 5; contained an article entitled "Crime Probers Get Senate Green Light", "Accardo Cited for Contempt; Open New Orleans Quiz Thursday", which reflected the following:

Washington - The crime investigating committee of Sen. KEFAUVER (D., Tenn.) will open public hearings in New Orleans "Thursday" with full backing in its efforts to make racketeers talk.

Meanwhile, the Kefauver committee broadened its search for EDDIE S. MAY, Chicago business engineer and owner of Tam O'Shanter Country Club near Niles.

Subpoenas calling for May's appearance "forthwith" before the committee in Washington were sent to the U. S. marshals at Chicago and San Francisco, where MAY has branch offices.

KEFAUVER has been trying for weeks to find MAY to ask him under oath whether EDDIE VOGEL, Cook County slot machine boss, had a 40 per cent interest in the machines at Tam O'Shanter.

62-3519-964

"Chicago Daily News", 3 Star Final Edition, issue of 2/13/51, p. 6, col. 1, contained an article entitled "Always After Payoff", "'Hungry' Cops Tax Slot Aide's Patience" by EDWIN A. LAHEY, Staff Writer, which reflected the following:

Washington - DANIEL J. MAHONEY, is the hard-working president of the Apex Cigarette Service, Inc., 1010 George St., in which EDDIE VOGEL, the slot machine boss of Cook County, owns two thirds of the stock.

A few years ago Mr. MAHONEY decided to spend the Christmas holidays in Florida. He listed the cost of the trip as a deductible business expense. The Internal Revenue Bureau said nix.

Mr. MAHONEY, in defending the deduction said in effect:

"I had to get out of town for Christmas. The hungry coppers were driving me crazy, coming around for a touch".

The Internal Revenue men still said nix, which is the most popular word in their lexicon.

It was ever thus when a bright fellow like VOGEL emerges from the underworld and enters legitimate trade. If it isn't the tax snoopers, it's the cops and the politicians putting the bite on you.

The exact relationship between EDDIE VOGEL's company and the cops and politicians in Chicago and Cook County is another one of those things that the Kefauver committee never got around to in its brief Chicago hearings.

But preliminary investigation of the company indicated that Apex paid policemen and small-fry politicians $10 to $200 for "tips" on locations for their cigarette vending and phonograph machines.

The business of "placing" cigarette machines and music boxes is highly competitive, but Apex, with an eminent hoodlum like VOGEL in control of the company, has done rather well.

As of Oct., 1950, the company had 692 phonographs, or juke boxes, and 438 cigarette machines on location in Cook County.

The company has done a volume of $7,387,362 in business in Cook County in the past 9 years. Its profits from phonographs in 1949 were $10,122 and from cigarette machines $37,512.

VOGEL took over local slot machine concessions from FRANK NITTI and JAKE GUZIK in 1939 for a mere $20,000.

As even GEORGE S. MAY, the owner of the Tam O'Shanter Country Club, discovered, you don't operate a slot machine in Cook County unless it's VOGEL's slot machine, and VOGEL takes a modest 40 per cent of the receipts.

In one recent year, before the Tam O'Shanter Club got in trouble with State's Attorney BOYLE, the slot machine revenue at the club was $70,000, of which $42,000 went into the club coffers and $28,000 was carried away by VOGEL's pickup and delivery man, a citizen known only as "JULIUS".

There is little doubt in the mind of Kefauver committee investigators, that VOGEL had generally operated by virtue of a clout in the office of the Sheriff of Cook County.

Kefauver investigators learned that in 1939, when MAY put 9 of his own slot machines in the Tam O'Shanter game room, he was visited by a representative of the sheriff's office, who gave MAY a telephone number to call.

The man who answered the phone at this number asked MAY how much he had paid for the new machines, and MAY told him $1,800. In the next day's mail MAY received a check for $1,800, and the 60-40 division of slot machine receipts between the club and VOGEL continued.

"Chicago Daily News", 3 Star Final Edition, issue of 4/6/51, p. 14, col. 1, contained an article entitled "Only 24 More Days For May to Hide", "Tam O'Shanter's Boss Still Running from Kefauver", by EDWIN A. LAHEY, Staff Writer, which reflected the following:

Washington - GEORGE S. MAY, the Chicago business engineer, will be free to resume his role as a respected citizen after April 30.

The Kefauver crime committee subpoenas outstanding against MAY and dozens of others will have no force or effect when the committee's life comes to an end. Unless that life is extended by a parliamentary miracle not now in sight, the committee goes out of business the last of this month.

The committee had hoped to question MAY about his deal with EDDIE VOGEL, the slot machine boss of Cook County, which gave VOGEL 40 per cent of the take from the machines MAY kept in his Tam O'Shanter Country Club near Chicago.

But MAY has successfully dodged U. S. deputy marshals in Chicago, Los Angeles, and San Francisco since subpoenas were issued for him in each of those cities.

62-3519-1077

"Chicago Herald-American", 8 Star Final Edition, issue of 5/22/51, p. 3, col. 6, contained an article entitled "May Smiles--and Welcomes Subpena!"

The article reflects that two deputy U. S. marshals served a subpoena on millionnaire business man GEORGE S. MAY shortly before noon "today" at the Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

Until "today" committee subpoena servers and the U. S. marshal's office had continually tried to reach MAY without success.

The committee wants to ask him about an alleged deal he is reported to have made with EDDIE VOGEL, Cook County slot machine king, whereby VOGEL was to receive 40 per cent of the "take" from Tam O'Shanter slot machines.

MAY refused to comment on the purported VOGEL deal.

62-3519-1085

"Chicago Daily Sun-Times", 3 Star Final Edition, issue of 6/2/51, p. 6, col. 5, contained an article entitled "Tam Bribery Case Ready, Aid Tells Boyle".

The article reflects that enough evidence is on tap to seek indictments charging police bribery and gambling conspiracy in the GEORGE S. MAY slot machine case, Asst. State's Attorney EDMUND GRANT announced "Friday".

He informed State's Attorney BOYLE by telephone from Washington that he would return "Monday" with startling information from confidential files of the Senate crime committee.

MAY, millionaire business consultant and president of the Tam O'Shanter Country Club, admitted to committee investigators that he got advance tip-offs on slot machine raids ordered by BOYLE, according to GRANT.

GRANT went on to say the bribery charges involved members of the Cook County highway police during ELMER MICHAEL WALSH's tenure as sheriff.

The conspiracy matter involves admission by MAY that EDDIE VOGEL, a Capone racketeer, was a 40 per cent partner in machines at the plush club and that he received about $50,000 a year from the racket.

BOYLE said, in connection with the reported raid tip-offs, that he planned to bring ex-Sheriff WALSH, the county police chiefs who served under him and a number of subordinates before the grand jury.

MAY is reported to have told GEORGE S. ROBINSON, crime committee associate counsel, that VOGEL owned the machines and "made all the arrangements".

He left the impression that VOGEL got advance notice of pending raids - which BOYLE would ask WALSH to make, under the usual chain of command - and that the Capone racketeer then notified the club to get the slot machines out of sight until the danger was past.

The warning system apparently collapsed

"last July 4" when BOYLE personally led his own men on a raid at the club, seizing 27 slot machines and other gambling equipment.

"Chicago Daily Tribune", 3 Star Sports Final Edition, issue of 6/9/51, p. 4, col. 3, Part 1, contained an article entitled "List Hoodlum Tax Targets in Federal Probe", "Racketeers Revealed as Under Scrutiny".

The article reflects that a list of hoodlums, gamblers, and politicians whose income tax returns are to be investigated by the special fraud squad of the bureau of internal revenue was released "yesterday".

More than 150 names were on the list. The fraud squad is investigating returns of approximately 1,600 persons in the northern Illinois district. About 100 agents are working on the project.

The drive was prompted by the senate crime investigation committee report which criticized the treasury for permitting hoodlums to return vague and incomplete tax returns. Among those on the list was:

EDDIE VOGEL, 4300 Marine Drive - Slot machine boss of northern Cook county and pal of Capone hoodlums.

62-3519-1105

"Chicago Daily News", 5 Star Final Edition, issue of 7/17/51, p. 11, col. 1, contained an article entitled "Boyle, Babb Cry 'Foul' At Report on Gambling", "Prosecutor Cites This Record; Sheriff Rips 'Payoff' Inference".

The article contains a photo of EDDIE VOGEL.

The article reflected that State's Attorney BOYLE and Sheriff BABB "Tuesday" lashed back at charges by the Chicago Crime Commission that they permitted gambling to resume openly in Cook County.

"Gambling exists only on a sneak basis", BABB said.

He assailed an "inference that I have profited in any way from gambling".

BOYLE issued a statement defending his record, but did not touch on 3 main points cited by the crime commission.

These were:

-That neither he nor Sheriff BABB had sought to revoke licenses of saloonkeepers violating the law.

-That court proceedings should be started to close down gambling repeaters.

-That BOYLE and BABB permitted a syndicate-operated gambling house with a $100,000 bank to operate from 4 different sites near the northern end of the county.

In a statement BABB pointed out that his men had raided the gambling house cited by the crime commission.

It is known as Ralph's place, on Waukegan Road, just north of Winnetka Road.

"I can't revoke their license because they don't have one", he said. "The main place is down, but they operate from sneak joints".

The gambling house mentioned by the crime commission was reported to be managed by such well-known syndicate figures as ROCCO FISCHETTI, EDDIE VOGEL and others.

"Chicago Herald-American", 8 Star Final Edition, issue of 2/20/52, p. 24, col. 3, contained an article entitled "Charges Racket Control of 80 Businesses".

The article reflected that VIRGIL PETERSON, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, "today" linked gang control of 80 legitimate firms to the widening economic and political stranglehold of the underworld on the city.

Asserting that all but 10 of the companies are in the Chicago area, PETERSON urged the Big 19 committee to include in its inquiry gang infiltration of private enterprise.

PETERSON recalled that he gave the Senate crime investigating committee a list of the gang-controlled business firms, adding:

"The identity of the companies is still secret. Although our information about gang connections with the firms is pretty well certain to us, we don't want to damage any legitimate business".

PETERSON cited recent scandals involving counterfeit cigarette tax stamps and horsemeat sales as examples of the economic impact of the underworld on the public.

He noted that RALPH CAPONE and EDDIE VOGEL, slot machine boss in the county, operate cigarette vending machines.

62-3375-2513

"Chicago Herald-American", 8 Star Final Edition, issue of 9/29/52, p. 1, col. 2, contained an article entitled "Seize Hoodlum Vogel With $7,200 in Hand".

The article reflected that EDDIE VOGEL, slot machine king, was seized by police "today" in the doorway of his home at 4300 Marine Drive as he held $7,200, wrapped in a newspaper, in his hand.

Detectives said they wanted to question VOGEL in recent bombings of the homes of labor unions.

Attorney GEORGE CALLAGHAN immediately filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of VOGEL. The petition was to come up before Chief Justice GRABER in Criminal Court.

VOGEL was sighted by detectives a short distance from his home. He immediately began to run. Police chased him and caught him as he fumbled at his apartment door. Detective CHARLES FITZGERALD had his coat pocket torn in a scuffle with the slot machine king.

Police asked:

"Where are you going with all this money?"

VOGEL replied:

"I was going to the bank. I thought you were stickup men".

VOGEL for years has been the reputed head of the slot machine, pinball and certain vending machine operators, including the cigarette vending machines.

He was said to have controlled all of Cook County and his cigarette machines appeared side by side with slots in many taverns and clubs.

of the Chicago Crime Commission, 79 W. Monroe St., Chicago, was interviewed, and the following information received which is believed pertinent to captioned matter.

EDWARD VOGEL, who has for a number of years been considered the head of slot machine and pinball machine activities in the Chicago area, is one of the principal owners of the Apex Cigarette Service, Inc., 4238 N. This company, according to Mr. PETERSON, actually engages in the operation of a great many cigarette vending machines in and around Chicago, but the company also serves as a front for VOGEL's slot machine and pinball machine activities.

According to Mr. PETERSON the company is owned at least in a large part by VOGEL and one MAHONEY who is not further identified by Mr. PETERSON. The Chicago Daily News of 5/21/54 reflected the following article by WILLIAM F. MOONEY, a writer for the Chicago Daily News.

The article stated that syndicate hoodlums are ready to take over most of the 125 million dollar tobacco industry here in Chicago as soon as the City Council legalizes cigarette vending machines.

In the suburbs where cigarette vending machines are legal, slot machines, juke boxes and other vending machines are controlled by the survivors of the old Capone mob.

Police in Chicago have warned of increased highjackings, grillings, and union muscling and an increase in counterfeit cigarette stamps which has been pretty well stamped out in recent months. Counterfeit cigarette stamps have cost the state 13 million dollars since the first of four cigarette stamp machines was stolen in 1949.

EDDIE VOGEL, old-time Capone hoodlum and slot machine boss of Cook County owns the Apex Cigarette Service and according to the article a recent count gave him 438 cigarette machines and 692 juke boxes and no one knows how many slot machines. VOGEL concentrates his cigarette machines in the Northern section of Cook County.

VIRGIL PETERSON, according to this article warned the aldermen who are considering the passage of a bill legalizing cigarette machines that the hoodlums would control the machines within six months after they became legal.

Re letter to SAC from ROBERT TIEKEN, U. S. Attorney, Northern District of Illinois, Chicago, dated 5/24/54.

Enclosed with letter was a copy of a memo covering cigarette vending machines in Chicago which was being used as the basis of the articles appearing in the Daily News. The memo reflected the following, in part:

"The way I understand this cigaret vending machine and the counterfeit stamp deal is this:

At the present time machines are illegal in Chicago, legal elsewhere. The North end of the county is handled by EDDIE VOGEL and his Apex."

"VOGEL gets--or did get his cigarets from Consolidated Tobacco Co., Sima Tobacco, Elmwood Park Tobacco and Tarr Tobacco Co."

"To get back to VOGEL, two of the spots he was buying from handled hot cigs".

"Don't know whether VOGEL gets his cigs now from Consolidated, but it appears on the surface to be legitimate company."

"VOGLL, identified in some clips as 'Birth Control Eddie', has taken over cigarette vending machines ops, juke boxes, slots and new contraceptive machines. He sends his men in, they tell owners not to move the machines, and the owners don't. According to LAHLY (Feb. 13, 1951), VOGEL had 692 jukes, 438 cig mahines. VOGLL, one-time errand boy for JACK GUZIK, got the slots in 1939."

"Story is VOGEL got the concession for slots from GUZIK and FRANK NITTI for a lousy $20,000. LAHLY's story says Apex (VOGEL's outfit) paid cops and small-fry politicians from $10 to $200 for tips on places to move in his cig machines and jukes.

"As GEORGL S. MAY found out, the slots are operated on a 60-40 cut, with VOGEL being nice enough to take the short end. MAY also had to take VOGEL's vending machines, he told KEFAUVER.

"JOHN S. BOYLD, represented VOGEL's outfits in 1946-47, and won personal property tax reduction suits for him".

"Chicago Daily News", 1 Star Final Edition, issue of 6/18/54, p. 9, col. 1, contained an article entitled "Gambling Spot", "Gutknecht Seeking Owner of the Fort".

The article reflected that State's Attorney GUTKNECHT "Friday" was trying to locate a man who, he says, is the beneficiary of a trust that owns the Fort, a gambling house near the Glenview Naval Air Station.

GUTKNECHT said his investigators have learned that the property is held in trust by the Liberty National Bank.

Beneficiary of the trust, said the state's attorney, is NATHAN LADON, 4918 Kimbark, who is described by relatives as a real estate man.

At one time, according to GUTKNECHT, EDWARD A. VOGEL, reputed slot machine king, was beneficiary of the trust.

However, he said one piece of the property - the Fort - was assigned to LADON.

He said he did not know how many additional pieces of property are included in the trust.

The property was bought 9/4/48 by an ANNE KARRAS who paid $23,500 for it, said GUTKNECHT. The sale was handled by Attorney JOSEPH LUSTFIELD.

On 10/20/48, the property was put in trust with the Liberty National Bank, he said.

GUTKNECHT said Miss KARRAS bought the property from Swan Nelson Co., a nursery at 1871 Grove, Glenview.

He appeared before Judge JOHN P. BARNES after reportedly refusing to answer questions about EDWARD VOGEL's role in the Apex Amusement Co.

Police Chief, HARRY JENSBY of Cary, whose squads patrolled the area even though the restaurant is outside the village, was reported to have stated that he had 2 weeks earlier learned that a complaint had been made to the Attorney General of Illinois that there was gambling in the restaurant. JENSBY stated that during the time that he was observing the restaurant he saw EDDIE VOGEL, the old slot machine boss for the old Chicago syndicate and AUGUST J. "GUS" LEIBE, the manager of FISCHETTI's floating dice game wherever it operated for the past 10 years, frequently enter the restaurant.

The article stated that LINDELOF claims that a group of hoodlums were attempting to take over locations of juke boxes being serviced by members of MONI. The article said LINDELOF claims that EDDIE VOGEL, a member of the old Capone gang, is an officer of the Apex Cigarette Service, 4328 Lincoln Ave., Chicago, and that VOGEL had taken juke box locations in Chicago from independent operators and LINDELOF believed that VOGEL might be connected with the same type of tactics being employed in the northern suburbs of Chicago.

connection between LYMAN (RED) LARNER, a slot machine boss, and recent crime syndicate terrorism in the coin machine industry.

One of the witnesses will be EARL KIES, general manager of the Apex Amusement Corp., 4246 Lincoln Ave. EDWARD VOGEL, crime syndicate slot machine supervisor, is secretary of the Apex firm. Before he entered the coin association, LARNER, who is missing, was known as a protege of VOGEL in slot machine operations in southern Cook County.

The listing is in line with the Federal Government's recently announced plan to put 100 of the country's top gangsters in prison.

In TIEKEN's files is an organizational chart, similar to that of a military table of organization, showing the hoodlum setup.

EDWARD (DUTCH) VOGEL is named as the county's slot machine ruler, with front line assistance from ROCCO PATERNOSTER.

Washington, Feb. 19 - A Chicago game and juke box operator testified "today" he pays about $2,000 "protection" money annually to a hoodlum-dominated association.

DON MOLONEY, president of Donan Distributing Co., 2633 Milwaukee, told Senate racket probers of his relations with Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL.

"Chicago American", Diamond Edition, issue of 2/21/59, p. 1, col. 6, contained an article entitled "Fear Seals Lips in Juke Box Quiz" by PAT MUNROE, Washington Correspondent, The Chicago American, which reflected the following:

Washington, Feb. 21 - The Senate Rackets Committee said "today" fear of reprisals is keeping some witnesses from testifying freely about the gangster stranglehold on juke box profits in Chicago.

Both Chairman MC CLELLAN (D.-Ark.) and ROBERT F. KENNEDY, committee chief counsel, said witnesses are reluctant to relate their troubles because they have been terrified into "silence".

Sensational highlights of "yesterday's testimony included:

EDWARD F. GILLIGAN of 516 S. Cicero, head of the Chicago Music Co., cried when he said he does not know if mobster harrassment caused the death of his wife's prematurely born baby.

KENNEDY said GILLIGAN previously told committee investigators that worry over harassment caused the loss of the child.

GILLIGAN testified, however, that a rival firm - Apex Music Co., reportedly owned by EDWARD (DUTCH) VOGEL - stripped him of 30 or more locations where he previously had juke boxes. VOGEL is head of the crime syndicate slot operations in Chicago suburbs.

"Chicago Tribune", 3 Star Sports Final Edition, issue of 2/25/59, p. 1, col. 3, Part 1, contained an article entitled "Two Chicago Terrorists Defy Probers", "Big Shots of Coin Racket Named" by WILLIAM MOORE, Chicago Tribune Press Service, which reflected the following:

Washington, Feb. 24 - Two snarling convicts, handcuffed together, spewed defiance at the Senate rackets committee "Tuesday" when the committee asked them if they were acid terrorists hired by EDWARD (DUTCH) VOGEL to help him exact tribute from Chicago coin machine operators.

They were JAMES RINI and ALEX ROSS.

Tavern keepers and coin box operators told unbelievable stories of violence and cruelty on a day that brought these major developments:

ARTHUR KAPLAN, committee investigator, said that HYMAN LARNER, alias Thomas (Red) Waterfall, VOGEL's top lieutenant, collects $108,000 a year from operators of coin operated games as operating director of the Chicago Independent Amusement Association, which ROBERT F. KENNEDY, committee counsel, said is actually the creature of VOGEL.

The C.I.A.A. was founded in 1955 by SAM GREENBURG, president, WILLIAM KNAPP and others, KAPLAN said, to grant "protection" to the 100 or more game machine operators of Chicago.

In 1956, KAPLAN said, VOGEL put his employee, WATERFALL, in charge. Dues were then raised 600 per cent to $1 a machine a month, KAPLAN said.

The article included a photo of VOGEL.

Roosevelt; Singer One Stop, 1812 W. Chicago Ave.; and The Record Center, address unknown, all of Chicago.

He stated that although the records he purchases are all priced the same by the 3 suppliers, he buys about $350 in records from Lormar in an average week but only buys about $400 from Singer and $200 from The Record Center over the period of one month. He stated that he buys most of his records from Lormar because he knows that Lormar is owned by the syndicate and that by purchasing most of his records from that company, he decreases his chances of running into trouble through damage to machines as a result of "accidents". He stated that he believes EDWARD VOGEL has a financial interest in Lormar and he also believes GLIMCO also has interest in this company.

FERRARO replied that they were EDDIE VOGEL's, a Chicago top hoodlum and alleged juke box and coin machine operator, and VOGEL had passed them on to "get rid of". HUMPHREYS was very much perturbed over this and it seemed that VOGEL had been passing off these bills for some time. PERSONAL HISTORY AND BACKGROUND

Residence

On March 7, 1951, CG T-31 advised that VOGEL continues to reside in Apartment 1002-3, 320 Oakdale, Chicago, Illinois. VOGEL recently had his name included on the mailbox, whereas it was previously listed to one E. WANTENDONG. Informant advised that a person known to him as "DUTCH" recently claimed to be "DUTCH" WANTENDONG and that the description of "DUTCH" LADON, a known chauffeur of VOGEL, generally fits that of WANTENDONG. According to source, "DUTCH" recently moved into an apartment located at 1550 North Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. He also stated that VOGEL is assigned to parking space number 1, which is the first space on the east side of this apartment building at 320 Oakdale.

On April 10, 1951, CG T-33 advised that he had heard that EDWARD VOGEL paid between $50,000 and $60,000 to furnish his apartment at 320 Oakdale. Source stated that Mr. [redacted] of Franklin Lare Company, Michigan Avenue, Chicago, said that EDWARD VOGEL paid $7,000 for linens to be used in his apartment on Oakdale.
